How to talk about work+family in the 21st Century

A webinar on alternative family structures and what these means for work and family today

Join us on:
Thursday 13th July 2017
12:30pm - 1:30pm

Family life is changing. The traditional nuclear unit is just one version and many new alternative family structures re-define our understanding of ‘family’ in the 21st century.

This session explores how we talk about this - what negotiating conversations we might need to have at home to challenge assumptions and what language we now need to use in the workplace to avoid or deal with potential prejudice.

Register at the Knowledge Centre on your Work+Family Space:
www.myfamilycare.co.uk/cambridge

Our Being a Dad webinars remain open and accessible to everyone and we invite all parents, whatever their family make up, to engage in the session.