

Career Development Series for Non-Clinical Female Academics and Researchers

“Learning to Fly”

The Clinical School is pleased to announce this year's career development course for women preparing to embark on independence in their research career. The course consists of five lunchtime workshops offering career development advice and is cohort-based to provide peer support.

12th October – Career Anchors – Seminar Room 19

What would you not give up in a career? Status, doing something useful, autonomy? In groups we will explore what motivates us most.

26th October – Marketing Yourself – Seminar Room 18

How to write CVs, grant, and fellowship applications. When is the right time to apply?

9th November – CV Clinic – Seminar Room 18

Experts will review your CV in one-on-one sessions while the group explores how to answer the question “What do you do?”

23rd November – The 3 Cs: Career Choices, Confidence and Canny Negotiation – Seminar Room 13

Session with guest presenter Dr Vivien Gruar, packed with tips for your future career.

7th December – Strengthening Wings – Seminar Room 20

How and where to find training and support if you need it, My Family Care, and Q&A.

All sessions will be from 12-2pm

Bring your own lunch – Coffee and Cake will be provided!

Register Here: learning-to-fly.eventbrite.co.uk

The course is facilitated by Dr Tennie Videler. Tennie has experience of supporting the career development of academic researchers within a specialist careers organisation. She is currently coordinator for the Public Health@Cambridge network.

Please note: Places are limited so if you sign up you are required to attend all five sessions. You may need approval from your line manager to attend. If you have any questions please do not hesitate to contact Vicky; vs351@medschl.cam.ac.uk athena-swan.medschl.cam.ac.uk

“Doing great work in a great place to work”